Dear Readers

A child's success blossoms when school and home work hand in hand. Education is most effective when parents and educators share a common vision to guide, support, and inspire students. Your involvement strengthens learning, builds confidence, and reinforces positive values in young minds. We encourage open communication, mutual trust, and active participation to create a nurturing environment for every child. Together, we can identify strengths, overcome challenges, and celebrate progress at every step. I sincerely thank all parents for their cooperation and commitment. CREATIVE MINDS SPEAK!

A BEAUTIFUL POEM

MAHI DUDHAT
7-C

I built a house from clouds
I built a house for Claude one day, where sky-blue walls would drift and sway, The floor was safe with mist and Breeze, And windows sang with humming bees.
The doors were made of morning light,
That opened only with delight.
Each room held whispers from the air.
Of dreams that floated everywhere.
A staircase made of silver rain would rise and vanish,
then remain.
The roof was stitched with stardust thread.
no bind, locks, no keys, no chain to
Just floating thoughts and an open mind,
No wall of doubt - to hold in fear or Just shine inside, and stay without.
do if you see me in the sky, don't call me down, don't ask me why-
For I have found a place above,
Built not with stone, but light and love
And sunlight tucked me into bed.

FLASHBACK OF MEMORIES

Naitik Dholakiya
10 G

A wish to be again a child!
Two eyes with thousands of dreams
And an intense desire to live it.
The ability to see the whole world & capture it,
without the fear of failure.
Delicate hands with a brave heart
Just like a shield & a sword
Built the castle of Building Blocks with an imagination of living it in real.
Too young to be left alone.
Now it seems,
The castle collapsed & destroyed
Every block shows the efforts & desires.
Too old to play with toys,
All the toys ask to play with them,
Tears in eyes smile on face,
Touches my soul with infinite memories
Feels nostalgic, Time calls me back.
Every Flashback brings joy,
with a desire to live it again
Every moment became memories, & now it's just a story to recall & have a smile again
A wish to be again a child.

RED STRING

Shreya Patel
10 F

Like the Sunflower and the Sun,
Who turns up even at it's whisper.
Gets merrier and good cheer,
But may get wither more near.
Though determined to be apart,
Yet urge to perceive all the times.
Thus, even it is lethal,
I want every sight of your glimmer.
Separated by body ,united by soul.
The red string still keeps me close.
Despite of losing you, I gain you again.
At dusk chapter ends,
But at dawn a new chapter commence.

THE ROAD I WALK

CHARVY SHAH
7-C

The morning sun paints the sky with gold,
A silent promise for dreams untold.
I step outside to achieve dreams with courage small,
But my heart whispers, "you can stand tall."
The success road is long, with stones and rock in the way,
But every hardworking step teaches me to stay.
I fall, I rise, I wipe my tears,
For every doubt is born for fears.
Dreams don't come just by desire,
You have got to fuel them, light the fire.
With little effort, with little try, with little pain
Can turn your loss into your gain.
Work with heart, give all you've got,
The world will cheer your every shot.
For every people's heart that dares to strive,
makes this world more alive.

CREATIVE MINDS SPEAK!

WHO IS HE ?

AKSHAR CHAUDHARI
11-A5

There exists a boss of children's hearts
Who completes their favorite demand.
His age to know is a little hard,
But he seems to be very smart.
Flying in the shivering cold,
Making the sky a general road,
He comes being very bold,
Fulfilling wishes is his gorgeous role.
Happy! He makes you by tricks
Surprise! He gives you by gifts,
Now enough! No more hints!
He is the Santa Claus who comes by,
When it's Christmas!

THE RIVER NEVER FORGETS

JENI LUKHI
11-A5

The river has no memory loss.
It bears the ashes of our house,
The sounds of women grinding grain,
And the quiet of deforested areas.
They brought promises, papers and machines,
It was dubbed progress,
After they drew lines across the hills.
My grandmother's tales are carried by the wind.
Every drop of sweat that nourishes, its crimson body
Is remembered by the soil.
I walk barefoot on this fractured earth,
following the people's footsteps.
Like the river, I will never forget.

KINDNESS – THE SUPERPOWER WITHIN US

A gentle smile, an extended hand of help, or even sharing a sandwich may not appear as heroic deeds, but they hold the power to transform someone's entire day. Just as a single candle can light another, one act of kindness can spark an endless chain of joy.

In school, we learn subjects like Mathematics, Science, and English. But life's greatest lesson is to remain truly human. Marks may fade, trophies may gather dust, but the way we touch hearts lasts forever. So let us wear our invisible capes each day. Let us be superheroes in the corridors, classrooms, playgrounds, and beyond. Because when kindness walks beside us, the world indeed shines brighter!
